His Way Of Warring On The Trusts Has Displeased Roosevelt.

PRESIDENT PREFERS SAFER METHOD

Announcement That Retirement Is Not Only Possible But Probable, Made In New York Journal Of Commerce.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Aug. 20.—The Journal of Commerce today publishes a story regarding the possible retirement of Attorney General Bonaparte from the cabinet. It says: "According to important interests in this city very close to the administration the usefulness of Attorney General Bonaparte as a member of the president's cabinet has diminished. It is not expected that immediate retirement will result, for such action might be construed as a sign of weakness in the president's anti-trust policy—a construction particularly distasteful to Mr. Roosevelt since not the slightest justification exists for it. But there is no question, according to the excellent information obtained, that the president is not only not in sympathy with the recent ill-considered and undignified attitude and the at

POSTMASTERS OF BIG CITIES MEET AT ERIE

Interesting Event of Convention Will be Dedication of Monument to First Foreign Postal Agent.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Erie, Pa., Aug. 20.—With an attendance of 300 members, representing nearly all the large cities of the country, the National Association of Postmasters of the First Class began its tenth annual convention in this city today. The sessions are to continue until Friday. The object of the association is not to promote the personal interests of postmasters, but to confer upon all questions affecting the postal service which may correct defects, develop better methods and promote the general interests of the service. Through the influence of the association many important changes and improvements in the postal service have already been brought about. That the officials of the Postoffice Department at Washington are in hearty sympathy with the aims and work of the association is evidenced by the fact that Postmaster General Von Meyer and a number of his chief subordinates are to attend the present convention. One of the matters that will receive the attention of the convention is the suggestion for issue of a postal note to discourage the practice of customers having of sending postage stamps to mail order establishments. The most interesting event of the three days' program will be the unveiling of a monument to Eben Brewster, the first postmaster of the United States ever assigned to foreign soil. When war was declared against Spain by the United States Mr. Brewster suggested to the Washington officials his plan for a military postal service. His plan was accepted and on June 21, 1898, he opened United States Postoffice, Military Station, No. 1, Cuba, the first United States postoffice established on foreign soil. Less than one month later Mr. Brewster fell a victim to the yellow fever while at his post of duty. At the suggestion of the National Association of Postmas-

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Aug. 20.—Stock watering and overcapitalization by utility corporations in this city will be specifically an impossibility hereafter as the result of a new rule adopted by the public service commission. The rule serves notice on such concerns that hereafter, to make any increase in the capitalization, they will have to throw open their books, and that the most minute details will be required to be given before new bond or share issues will be even considered.

CONCERTED ATTACK ON OFFICER MASON

Podewell's Saloon Was the Scene of a High-Handed Proceeding Last Night—Ernest Schumaker Arrested.

William Bradley of Rockford, composer of "When the Parlor Lamp's Turned Low" and other popular ballads which have been published with his picture on the cover by a Chicago musical house—a good-hearted and gentlemanly sort of a fellow who when he is not in his cups—came to Janesville in a playful mood last evening and while walking behind a man and his wife who are here from the east on legal business, made hold to seize the lady by the arm. The husband immediately looked for an officer and accompanying William Mason informed him of what had transpired and accompanied him into the Ray Podewell saloon to identify the man. As Officer Mason laid his hand on Bradley, the ubiquitous Ernest Schumaker, who serves refreshments behind the bar, put in an arm, informing the representative of the law that the Rockford man could not be taken away from the place; that he would not permit it—or words to that effect. The next moment there was a free-for-all fight. Officer Mason whipped out his revolver, but when he thought he had quelled the fight put it back in his pocket. At that instant hostilities were renewed and in grappling with Mason, Schumaker is alleged to have bitten him on the bridge of the nose and arm. As the bartender ducked behind the rosewood, supposedly for a couple of heavy glasses to use as missiles, the Officer ducked out the front door to look for help. Officer Brown came to his assistance and Bradley was escorted to the lock-up. Schumaker, in the meantime, had made good his escape. In municipal court this morning Bradley was given his choice of paying a fine of $5 and costs or spending 15 days in jail. He did not have the necessary money and went to the bastille. Ernest Schumaker was brought in to court this afternoon. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of resisting an officer and his examination was set for Friday, Aug. 23, at 10 a. m., bail being fixed at $500.

LIGHTNING STRUCK AND BURNED BARN

Archie Reid's Brother Loses by Monday's Storm—Sixty Tons of New Hay Destroyed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Clinton, Wis., Aug. 20.—This community was visited by a severe electrical storm Monday afternoon. Lightning struck the large barn on the Wm. Reid farm at Avon and set it on fire and completely destroyed it with almost its entire contents. Among other things were sixty tons of new hay. Mr. Reid is a brother of Archie Reid of Janesville. The storm of last Friday night was much more severe. It is found as the reports commence to come in, than it was at first supposed. A barn near Sharon was blown down and four horses killed. Many hay and straw stacks were blown away and many trees were blown down in the village. The biggest loss and greatest damage was that suffered by O. L. Woodward at his large glassing garden. A large section of the roof or covering was blown away and destroyed, and many fine and valuable plants were destroyed.

NEW ENGLAND AGLOW OVER PILGRIM STATUE TODAY

President Roosevelt And United States Senators Among Dignitaries Present At Celebration.

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 20.—In the presence of President Roosevelt and a distinguished company, there was laid today the cornerstone of a magnificent monument to be erected here to recall the place where the Pilgrims finished their voyage, where they drew up their historic pact. In the calm of the Mayflower, and where a few of them first stepped on American soil. The visit of the President and so many other notables made an occasion that will ever be remembered by Cape Cod folk, and it will probably be many a long day before a quiet old Provincetown is aroused from its lethargy and called to entertain another such crowd. Natives and summer residents for miles up and down the Cape came to town and these added to hundreds of excursionists from Boston and other points. The three or four little roadways that serve as streets were congested with humanity and the crowd was forced to take to the beach and the sand hills back of the village to get breathing space. The natives agreed that it was the greatest thing that ever happened on Cape Cod since the landing of the Pilgrim fathers 287 years ago. Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning President Roosevelt and party reached the harbor from Oyster Bay on board the government yacht Mayflower. The approach of the yacht was through a lane of eight battleships. The sea fighters were in gala attire. As the Mayflower approached down the column of vessels each in turn greeted the President, who occupied the bridge of the trim yacht, with a salute of twenty guns. Governor Guild and his staff were on hand to extend an official greeting to the visitors in behalf of the state of Massachusetts. On landing the President and his party were escorted by a guard of honor a short distance to Town Hill, where the exercises of the day were held. The great throng on shore stretched from the water front to the hill. The doors, windows and roofs of the fishing houses, stores and dwellings along the way were thronged with men, women and children, desirous of getting a view of the nation's executive. The exercises of laying the corner stone were in charge of the Grand Lodge of the Masonic order of Massachusetts, and Grand Master J. Henry Blake conducted the ritual. The speech of the President was delivered from a spacious stand erected on the side of the hill. Other speakers included Governor Guild and United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and town officers and Monument Association officials. When the exercises were closed the distinguished guests were escorted to the town hall, where a banquet was spread in their honor. The monument for which the cornerstone was laid today is the outcome of a long but friendly controversy between Provincetown and Plymouth over the question as to which place had prior claim to the Pilgrim fathers. Its erection is due to the enterprise of the Cape Cod Monument association, which has raised $32,000 through public and private subscription, the federal government contributing $10,000, the state of Massachusetts $25,000 and the town $5,000 of the amount. The memorial is to be located on top of Town Hill, the highest land in the town, from which it will rise to the height of 250 feet. It will be built of solid granite. One of the purposes of the structure is that it may serve as a beacon to vessels passing around the Cape during the daytime. Within the monument when it is finished, there will rest in the walls some 150 tablet stones, all commemorative offerings from many New England towns, and with each stone properly inscribed. Further than this will be three especially interesting stones, all from England and each commemorative of some important circumstance or event connected with the coming of the Pilgrims. One stone is inscribed "From the home of Bradford," the place coming from Amsterdam, England. A second is a gift from English historians, inscribed, "From the church at Leyden, Holland, the tarrying place of the Pilgrims." The third stone is a triangle of much harder material, presented by the Women's Suffrage Association of England, and inscribed, "From the church at Delfthaven." This block was taken from the altar of the sanctuary where the final prayer of the departing Pilgrims was offered. There are to be no winding stairs in the monument and visitors ascending to the porticoed plaza at the top will do so by means of an inclined winding plane. From the monument's lofty outlook it will be possible to view the whole region which the Pilgrims explored in their search for an abiding place.

Storm Left Trail Of Ruined Crops

Much Damage Done Along the Milwaukee Road Yesterday Afternoon—Buildings Blown Down. More or less damage was done everywhere by the wind and rain storm of yesterday afternoon but a trail of destruction was left along the Milwaukee road for a distance of two or three miles from the city. On either side of the highway crops were laid flat and buildings partially demolished. A windmill or two were blown over and small buildings were overturned. Corn was hammered down to the ground and tobacco was shredded by the heavy downpour. Other crops suffered and the loss cannot be estimated.

SIDEWALKS AGAIN
A BURNING ISSUE

BEFORE THE CITY FATHERS AT MEETING LAST EVENING.

STORM SEWER EXTENSION

Of 300 Feet on Magnolia Ave. Authorized—Measure Authorizing Bond Issue Repealed and Substitute Introduced.

Another sidewalk controversy engrossed the attention of the City Fathers last evening and relegated to indefinite limbo, for the nonce, that other burning issue—the permeation of the sidewalks. The location of the latest "problem" is the fringe of the William Parker property, corner of East Milwaukee and Division streets, where a large elm tree juts out four feet from the property line
and impinges upon any walk, laid according to established line and grade, at least three feet. Two permanent cement walks have already been built according to established line in the same block but an old one of brick in front of the Thomas Howes property, adjoining, is so situated as to furnish an argument for an extension of the outer line one foot nearer to the curb. The adoption of such a plan would reduce the distance of the tree's "intrusion" to two feet. Meantime a new walk has been built up to the elm, under the city's direction, with its inner edge one foot from the property line, as required by the city ordinance.

The two Third ward aldermen are at variance as to what should be done about the matter. Ald. Fred S. Sheldon believes that a stop should be put to "the miserable business of pushing out and pulling in walks to suit the convenience of individuals," and contends that it would be better to allow the walk around the tree than to furnish another precedent for the continued juggling with the city's boundary lines. Ald. H. W. Brown believes that the Messers, Parker and Howes should be accommodated.

After Ald. Sheldon had broached
the subject and outlined his more significant aspects, Attorney Edwin F.
Carpenter was given an opportunity to speak in behalf of the Messers, Parker and Howes. The elm tree, he said, was perhaps the largest and oldest in the city and any one of its branches in the same position as Mr.
Parker would not have it cut down for $500. The walk which cut down Sheldon wanted built was not in harmony with the Holmes walk and the line for the latter was fixed by Ex-City Engineer O. G. Hleodorn. Under the surveyor's act Holmes has the right to keep his walk there. It would be better for everybody concerned to allow the walk in front of the Parker property to go out a foot further. "Property owners have some rights," declared the speaker, "and surveyors can't run all over Robin Hood's barn, with their lines going better-seller, pole-
man, and regardless, ruling property all over the city. Mr. Sheldon is assuming a position he has no right to assume. He is senior alderman and I have been in the council and know that it is the junior alderman's prerogative to determine how the ward fund shall be expended. But he will not allow it and Brown hasn't the backbone to stand up and say: 'He shouldn't do it.'"

Alderman Sheldon: "Of course, I don't suppose anybody else has any rights in this matter except the two persons involved. The Holmes walk is not a full foot further out than the ones that have been laid recently and MR. BLEEDORN NEVER GAVE HOLMES A GRADE OR LINE.
I think you will agree with me that certain people in the Third ward are grasping—we have had an example of that on South Bluff and South Second streets. Tom Holmes' walk is a miserable contraption—an old brick affair which would be pulled up and put on grade if the owner had any respect
for his property."

Alderman Merrill: "I'd like to ask the city attorney: If the tree is left in the walk and anyone should stand in it and sustain injuries, would the city be liable?"
City Attorney Maxwell: "It would."
Alderman Dillon: "I have visited the locality and have observed that they have got the walk laid up to the tree. Will Parker stand the expense of moving the cement work out?"
Attorney Carpenter: "The ward should pay for it. I'm willing to stand my share of the expense."

At this juncture Ald. Sheldon moved to adjourn. The motion was lost 4 to 5. Clark, O'Hara, and Sheldon voting "aye" and Brown, Buchholz, Dilli, Merrill, and Rehfeld voting "no."
Alderman Brown then introduced a resolution directing the street assessment committee to decide the mooted question as to the location of the walk, and the measure passed.
Bond-issue Measure Repealed
Ordinance No. 320, passed on July 22, 1907, and authorizing the issue and sale of bonds amounting to $20,000 and the raising of $3,733.50 more for paying the interest thereon, to defray the expense of remodeling the Jefferson school, was last evening repealed by an ordinance introduced by Ald. Clark. The measure provided for the dating the issue September 1,
which happens to come on a Sunday,
and it was feared that this might invalidate the bonds or at least make the disposal of them difficult. Another ordinance providing for the is-one on October 1 was then introduced,

given its first and second reading,
and referred to the committee on schools with the proviso that further action should be postponed until Sept. 16 inasmuch as the next meeting comes on Labor Day, a legal holiday. In the meantime the measure is to be published three times in the official paper.

Extension of Magnolia Ave. Culvert City Engineer Kerch's plans for the extension of the Magnolia avenue
storm sewer from Washington street to Oak Hill avenue were accepted and an order was introduced and passed directing the street assessment committee to procure all the material, labor, tools, and everything necessary to proceed at once to construct about 300 feet of the projected waterway, commencing at Washington street.
Residents along that street have complained that the open sewer, with the immense volumes of water which it carries after every storm, endangers their property and the lives of their children.

TAFT'S SPEECH

Secretary Taft has spoken. In reading his speech at Columbus given last night the great similarity between his ideas and those of Roosevelt are noticeable. The War Secretary has cast his ballot into the political arena and the great campaign of 1908 is officially opened. It was an important speech from more points of view than one. Nearly one-half of his address was devoted to the railroads which subject he dwelt upon in all its phases. He closed with a defense of Roosevelt that warmed the cockles of the hearts of the supporters of the President. Taking it all in all, Taft launched his bomb safely and from now on is on record as a candidate for the presidential nomination at the republican national convention of 1908.

Mr. Taft was introduced as the next President. He is not a fluent orator, but the strength of his entire address was in the sentiments he expressed. He defended the rate legislation, showed how it was beneficial to the nation at large. He expressed himself as a protectionist, with the American workmen first in his consideration. He disputed Bryan's claims for reform and endorsed Roosevelt. He laughed at the claims that Roosevelt was following out Bryan's plans laid years ago. He believed that overcapitalization was a menace to the prosperity of the people of the nation as a whole. The watering of stock, the reckless speculation, meant ruin. He showed the evils of the great consolidation of the railroad interests of the country, the power centered in one man and stated that the railroads gave cheaper service than the roads of any country, but were really discharging a public function and were subject to restrictions. He opposed government ownership of railroads and believed the government had done right in limiting the hours of service of the employees as a step for the protection of human life. He dwelt upon the anti-trust law. He said the great combinations of capital had a tendency to throttle trade, to drive out the small industries. The power of the trusts lays in the secret rebates. It was by these methods that the Standard Oil and the Sugar Trust and other similar corporations have been able to amass their great fortunes. He would govern these great trusts by the injunctive process. He agreed with Bryan and others that a prison sentence for some of the leaders of these great combinations would be a lesson for others, but disagreed with Bryan that the trusts should be wiped out. There are good trusts and bad trusts and the idea of driving them all out of business would be detrimental to the welfare of the country. He believed the healthy effect of the proceedings thus far carried out would do much to restrain them from violation of the Elkins law. He believed in curbing the large property rights, the inheritance tax. As to tariff, Mr. Taft is optimistic. He believes the same good judgment that has led them in the matter of railroad legislation will lead them in this important question. Secretary Taft answered all questions that would naturally be put to a candidate for the presidency without intimating he himself was a candidate. His replies were sound and he is today a more formidable candidate than ever before. His defense of Roosevelt was demonstrative of the man and the broad ideals he believes

In and today Mr. Taft stands before the people of the United States in a position which bids fair to land him in the presidential chair.

THOSE SIDEWALKS
Alderman Sheldon was right. Put those walks straight. Root out the old system of crisscross and give Janesville streets and sidewalks that they can be proud of. It is not a personal matter with Mr. Sheldon but one of public interest and while it affects a few individuals their feelings should not overbalance the general welfare of the citizens at large. Silver-tongued orators may conjure up dire tales of hardship and delay the work but an era in the reformation of sidewalk building should come. Place the walks all at the curb or place them all inside the line but make them uniform. Mr. Sheldon and his supporters are right and should be endorsed.

TAFT'S OBJECTIONS

Taft objects to the Government ownership of railroads.
First, because existing government railroads are not managed with either the efficiency or economy of privately managed roads and the rates charged are not as low and therefore not as beneficial to the public.
Second, because it would involve an expenditure of certainly twelve billions of dollars to acquire the interstate railroads and the creation of an enormous national debt.
Third, because it would place in the hands of a reckless executive a power of control over business and politics that the imagination can hardly conceive, and would expose our popular institutions to danger.

The old question of curb lines is again bothering the public. The individuals who do not like public interference in their private property rights do not realize that if accidents occur on these same walks or curbs the city is liable.

Does anyone know that the last legislature made arrangements for a county superintendent of rural roads? Well, they did. Now is the time for good road disciples to get busy.

This system of crosswalks that rise up in a bump in the middle of the street are worse on the automobiles and carriages than the famous bumps of Glenview near Chicago.

TESTING BULLS WITH AUTOS.

How Mexican Learned Whether Animal Was a Fighter.

That the automobile can be used with great success in determining the courage of young bulls intended for the bull ring has been demonstrated by Pedro Fernandez Somellera on his Isidro hacienda in this state. The novel experiment was made a few days ago with a 22-horsepower car, says a Guadalajara letter in the Mexican Herald. On all haciendas where fighting bulls are raised the young animals are "tested" with a view to determining their future fitness for the bull ring. Those that prove their courage are marked and left to grow up for future contests. Up to this time the tests have been conducted by men on horseback, armed with pikes like plectrums. But Mr. Somellera, who is an enthusiastic motorist, this year decided on an innovation by introducing the motor car in place of the horsemen. Accordingly, after the young bulls had been herded into a large corral, the machine was driven into the enclosure. The occupants were armed with the usual pikes. The experiment proved an exciting success. Several of the young bulls charged the machine at mad speed, and it was only by clever driving that the car and its occupants were kept clear of the horns of the surprised and apparently indignant animals. The bulls that attempted to mix with the automobile have been credited with exceptional bravery, and they are expected to bring fame to the San Isidro hacienda by their future performances in the bull ring.

NOW THE PORCELAIN HOUSE.

New Invention May Make It a Building Material—Advantages.

The use of porcelain has long been known in China, but is now likely to make its appearance in western countries, and we are assured that the porcelain house is one of the possibilities of the near future. It is made practically by the invention of a method of making large sheets of porcelain about an inch thick, which has the strength without the bulk of an ordinary brick built wall. Among its advantages is rapidity in building. With sheets of porcelain a good sized house can be constructed in a few days. It is damp proof, too, and is, of course, kept clean at the cost of very little labor. Colored glazes take the place of wallpaper, and pictures can be painted instead of being hung on the walls. Again, it is easily portable. A porcelain house can be taken down when the owner desires to move and re-erected on another site. When it comes, these advantages, combined with its cheapness, are bound to make it popular.—Montreal Standard.

SHYING OF HORSE WAS NEARLY FATAL

Jerry Hubbard Thrown Against Scythe
He Carried in Rig and Cut
Very Seriously.

Friends wishing to see Dr. Richards for dental work take notice that he will not be in his office for business until September 2nd, as he is camping for few weeks at Delavan Lake.

Jerry Hubbard, a colored man formerly employed by C. P. Beers and now residing on the J. B. Smith farm southeast of the city, met with an accident this morning and just escaped with his life. He was driving home from the city with a scythe in his carriage. On Park street he turned his horse aside and the scythe landed in the spokes of a wheel. The knife was lifted up and cut the reins. As Mr. Hubbard reached for the severed ends he was struck on the leg by the scythe blade and a deep flesh wound was inflicted. Arthur Mohr and Clyde Hough heard his cries of whoa and by rushing to the scene and stopping the horse probably saved the man's life. Mohr drove Hubbard to his home in quick time and Hough phoned for Dr. Gibson. The physician dressed the wound but found the injured man very weak from loss of blood and it will be some time before strength is fully regained.

LAST SUMMONS FOR JAS. F. M'CAFFEY

Well Known Northwestern Conductor Succumbed to Abscess of the Brain
Late Yesterday Afternoon.

After a long period of unconsciousness, induced by an abscess of the brain, James F. McCaffrey, one of the ablest and best known of the passenger conductors in charge of trains running from Janesville to Chicago, quietly breathed his last at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Some months ago he injured one of his limbs and took treatment for a time in a Chicago hospital, and only a few weeks ago he was stricken with a fainting spell just as he was about to board his train in the metropolis. It is believed that some if the abscessed coils from an abscess in the leg were carried to the brain and lodged there. Dr. Chitree, a Chicago specialist who has the clinic of nervous and mental diseases at the Northwestern medical college, was summoned here Sunday but after an examination of the patient was able to offer little or no hope.

Deceased was born in Chicago and was forty-nine years of age. He had been with the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. for thirty-three years, entering its employ while a boy of sixteen. His cheerful disposition and his broad-gauged humor made for him hundreds of friends among the great traveling public and he was also held in high regard by his associates, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Knights of Columbus organization, of which he was a member.

Besides the devoted wife he leaves six children—Frank, James, Charles, and Raymond McCaffrey, and the Misses Marie and Gertrude McCaffrey, all of this city. His mother, two sisters—Mrs. P. J. Holman of Casper, Wyoming, and Miss Mary McCaffrey of Janesville and three brothers—Joseph who resides here, Frank McCaffrey of Madison, and Arthur McCaffrey of Texas—also survive him.

The funeral will be held from St. Patrick's church at 11:15 (tomorrow morning). A special will bring railroad officials from Chicago to pay their last respects to the dead.

The Rock County National Bank has just installed on the door of its safe deposit vaults the 20th Century Automatic Locking Device. This device in connection with the others throws the bolts automatically. The mechanism is all on the inside of the door and there are no bolts or openings on the outside. The power of the new automatic is so great that the door is forced into its seat so snugly as to become absolutely proof against high explosives or any mechanical intrusion. Its twin vaults, one for its own uses and one for safe deposit purposes, are as nearly perfect as money can make them. The vaults are constructed of plates of chrome laminated steel, built on a solid stone foundation resting on bed rock. The outer doors weigh three tons, each one equipped with three locks. Inside these great doors are the vaultlike doors guarded by combination locks and inside of these in one the money safe and in the other steel safe deposit boxes. The officers of the bank will be pleased to explain the working of the doors and this new device to any one who is interested.

TERRIFIC STORM IN NORTHWISCONSIN AND MINNESOTA SUFFER GREAT DAMAGE.*Scores or More of Persons Injured in Tornado At Summer Resort At Lake Independence.

St. Paul, Aug. 20.—The terrific wind and thunderstorm which began about 8 o'clock Sunday evening and lasted until after midnight did great damage in Minnesota and Wisconsin, but it leveled telephone and telegraph wires in all directions to such an extent that only a guess can be made at its extent and severity.

From the reports that have come in over the wires which remained up and by mail from nearby towns, it is feared that the damage will be extensive and run into thousands of dollars.

While the storm in St. Paul and Minneapolis was the most severe of the season, it was not a tornado, although the wind did much injury to trees and window glass. Lightning struck in several places and several persons were stunned. The rainfall for 50 miles here was 1.24 inches. The waters were unable to carry off the water and streets were filled while basements in many places were flooded.

Train service into St. Paul was generally demoralized on account of washouts. Trains from Chicago were from two to five hours late. The Burlington road appeared to be the hardest hit.

A summer resort at Lake Independence in the northwest corner of Hennepin county, a short distance from Minneapolis, was hit by a tornado and 20 or more persons were injured, one perhaps fatally.

A special from Spring Valley, Minn., south of St. Paul says the storm caused the rivers there to overflow their banks and that grain was badly damaged. Riverfalls, Wis., about 30 miles east of St. Paul reports great damage to crops by the storm. The appearance of the town is said to indicate that a tornado had passed through it. Thousands of dollars damage is reported in a brief telegram from Menomonie, Wis. Many buildings were struck by lightning. Corn and other standing grain was badly damaged. Ellsworth, Wis., a small town southeast of St. Paul reports thousands of dollars damage from the storm.

Wire communication was greatly affected. But one or two wires were reported in commission between this city and Chicago, and those worked intermittently. St. Paul for hours at a time since early Monday morning was cut off from communication with outside cities. Conditions at 6 o'clock Monday evening were but little improved.

Diamond Robbery in Appleton, Wis.
Appleton, Wis., Aug. 20.—Two thieves took $1,000 worth of diamonds from Henry Kamp's jewelry store Monday while two clerks and several customers were in the place. One of the thieves was detected pocketing diamonds from one of two trays that were placed on the counter before them as supposed customers. He turned the act off as a joke. About that time the second thief pocketed the diamonds from the other tray, and walked out of the store with his companion before the loss was discovered. The police have no clue to the thieves.

THE BROTHERLY LOVE.

(Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcella.)

In the sailors' bethels and other places Mr. John Hart was spoken of as one of the kindest and most liberal shipowners. Engaged with him in bethel work was Mr. Simpson, who believed in Mr. Hart sincerely. Simpson sent a nephew out on one of Hart's ships. When the boy returned, he was a sight to behold from ill treatment.

When Simpson had heard his story and corroborated it, he sat down to plan. He saw a man, and that man saw the other men, and the result was that the captain of the Brotherly Love was taken sick just as she was about to sail, and another had to be substituted. The crimps were also put to work and a reward held out. One morning as the ship left the wharf she carried a victim who was entered on the articles as Joe Haines. He had come aboard filled up with knockout drops and with neither bag nor chest, and the mate who received him asked no questions. After half a day out Joe came to life, ably assisted by three or four buckets of cold water and sundry kicks. He at once claimed to be Mr. John Hart, owner of the ship. The mate had no humor in his composition. When he looked upon the ragged, bruised and bloated man before him and heard his declaration, he didn't laugh at the absurdity of the thing. He simply hauled off and knocked him down and left him lying underfoot for the next hour. Then he incidentally mentioned the matter to the captain. The captain wasn't feeling very gay and wanted something to liven him up. He therefore had Joe Haines before him. It was with painful efforts, owing to swollen lips, that Joe declared he had been drugged and slaughtered and brought aboard one of his own ships. He insisted that he was Mr. John Hart, the man who shed tears when talking to sailors at bethel meetings—the man who sent sailors to sea with tracts and Bibles in their chests and let his heart yearn for their welfare.

His story was scouted. Joe Haines was kicked out of the cabin for an impostor and rated on the articles as ship's boy. His duties were to help the cook and be the dog of the men. The cook was a negro, and when he found a white man working for him he took it out on him. It got around among the crew that Joe Haines had claimed to be John Hart. While the crew jeered at the idea, they set out to punish on him. They owed the shipowner one, and as long as they could not get at him it was some comfort to get at the man claiming the identity. They kicked him. They cut him. They knocked him about. They made him eat of the worst tattered pork and gorged him on the bread holding the most weevils. Joe Haines had never come in close contact with a colored man before. In a dith way he had always considered the race humble hearted and downtrodden and long suffering. For the first day or two he was surprised when kicked by the cook, but in time he came to take it as a matter of course.

There was one man among the crew who really knew that Joe Haines was John Hart. He had sailed on one of his other ships and seen the great man aboard. He had also been induced to attend a bethel meeting one night and saw him there and heard him speak with tears in his eyes. This man led in making life miserable for the victim. He did more. After a couple of weeks the captain got to thinking things over. It was barely possible that a mistake had been made. He sent for the cook's assistant, and the cook gave the man a kick aft. Joe Haines retold his story. When he mentioned what the cargo consisted of and the names of the consignees at Valparaiso, with other information that could only be known in the shipping office, the captain's hair began to stand up. He was about to acknowledge to a mistake when word came aft that one of the sailors wanted to be heard in the case. He was sent for, and he led like a good liar. He identified Haines as the porter around the warehouse.

From thence on until port was reached Mr. John Hart led a surprising life. That is, he was surprised to awake in the morning and find himself still alive; he was surprised to find that he had life enough at night to turn in; he was surprised that others could be knocked about as they were and fed as they were and still not mutiny and murder the officers. He was an object of pity. He was starved and worked and maltreated until he became a woman in spirit and only the shadow of a man. And in the midst of it all he had to remember that the Brotherly Love was his best ship, the one of the trio least complained of in regard to food and treatment.

It got about at home that "the sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mr. John Hart" was owing to the fact that he had been slaughtered on one of his own vessels. She was to touch at Bahia, and when the Brotherly Love reached that port men came aboard and identified the owner and took him ashore. Captain and mates were fired instantly, three or four of the crew arrested for assault and battery on the high seas and the ship detained a week. Then Mr. John Hart returned home. He had seen things and felt things. He no longer took an interest in sailors and bethels. In fact, he was tired of being a shipowner, and not three months had passed when he sold out everything and bought a farm and went to raising chickens.

Suspicious.

Senator Beveridge said the other day of a political statement that seemed to him suspicious:

"It reminds me of an Indiana woman who, as she examined her Thanksgiving turkey, said to her little son: 'Did the grocer tell you this turkey was quite fresh?'"

"No'm," the boy answered, "I just said to hurry home with it as fast as I could."

Struck Trouble at Once.

Sincerely had the Russian immigrant set his foot on the soil of the New World when sounds of a dire conflict assailed his ears.

"What is it?" he asked. "Has a revolution broken loose here, too?"

"Worse," answered his forerunner neighbor and compatriot, who had met him at the steamer dock, as with blanched lips he hurried him to a place of safety. "It's a gang of robbers for the Glants mobbing an umpire!"—Chicago Tribune.

Too Much Prosperity.

"There walks one of the successful men of New York," said an old resident to a stranger, nodding to a well-groomed man of happy demeanor striding along Broadway. "But," he added, sotto voce, "he hasn't the slightest knowledge of the world."

"How's that?" the visitor asked. "Because he has always been successful, and doesn't know the meaning of adversity. He who always prospers sees the world but on one side."
